

KNOW THE SIGNS

Ectodermal Dysplasias

are rare genetic disorders that affect about 3 out of 10,000 babies. They cause the following parts of the body to develop and function abnormally. There are 180+ different types based on the combination of symptoms. Other body parts may be affected also.

HAIR

Hair may be

- missing
- sparse
- very light in color
- abnormal in texture

TEETH

Teeth may be

- missing
- pointed
- widely spaced

SWEAT GLANDS

Sweat glands may

- not work properly
- not have developed at all

NAILS

Nails may be

- thick or thin
- abnormally shaped or ridged.
- completely missing

SKIN

Skin may be

- thin
- dry
- prone to ezema, rash, infection and sunburn

ECTODERMAL
DYSPLASIAS
AWARENESS MONTH

Visit NFED.org to learn more.

nfed

Supporting you. Supporting each other.

NATIONAL FOUNDATION FOR ECTODERMAL DYSPLASIAS